

Nashville IMC Club Monthly Meeting

It's a cold and snowy approach to Boise, Idaho. All is going well until your altimeter disagrees with your glideslope indications. You're used to making cold-weather corrections, but none are needed for this approach. Do you continue on faith, adjust your minimums, or give up, even though your business future is on the line?

Directions: Meeting will be held at the Gassaway Building at Nashville International Airport. Please use map link to show location.
