

The Intersection of Safety and the Law

When you are on fire and screaming toward the ground is no time to be reading the flight manual for the first time ... or to be thinking about your legal rights and responsibilities. "Legal" and "safe" are not contradictory terms, and this presentation will give you some takeaways to ease your mind on both subjects. Attendees are encouraged to develop a habit of asking themselves, "What would a very cautious, competent, and prudent person do in my situation?" Bring your legal questions and ask an aviation lawyer.
