

Federal Aviation Administration

FAASafety.gov

Your Aviation Safety Web Site

The Home of the WINGS—

Pilot Proficiency Program and
AMT Awards Program

FAASafetyTeam
FAA SAFETY TEAM

Safer Skies Through Education

Your aviation safety Web site, www.FAASafety.gov, has a new look and feel. We listened to suggestions from hundreds of pilots and mechanics before creating this fresh, streamlined design. The improved FAASafety.gov offers a wide array of aviation safety information and training tools—including the WINGS – Pilot Proficiency Program and the AMT Awards Program.

Safety courses, seminars, events, training providers, publications, technical documents, awards programs, and links to other aviation Web sites—you can find it all. FAASafety.gov is dedicated to helping pilots and mechanics maintain proficiency.

FAASafety.gov is a Service of the FAASafetyTeam

The Federal Aviation Administration Safety Team (FAASafetyTeam) focuses on improving the Nation's aviation safety record by conveying safety principles and practices through training, outreach, and education while establishing partnerships and encouraging the continual growth of a positive safety culture within the aviation community.

www.FAASafety.gov

Your Aviation Safety Web Site

FAASafety.gov IS YOUR SINGLE SOURCE FOR AVIATION SAFETY INFORMATION

Check Out the Safety-Related Information Available to You

Courses & Events

Courses—Complete safety courses on line. Hundreds of topics are available. You can register and complete any course at your convenience.

Events—Sign up for events in your area. You can register on line. Also, FAASafety.gov can send you notices any time a safety event close to you is scheduled.

Pilots

- Register and participate in the WINGS—Pilot Proficiency Program. Earning your WINGS and maintaining any phase of WINGS will keep your flight review current.
- Awards programs for general aviation pilots.
- CFI Portal—Certified flight instructors have a special area to maintain proficiency and assist their students. Also, CFIs can create a special account for users who do not have a computer.

- Event & Activity Search—Pilots can search for seminars, training courses, flight activities, and more by topic or location.
- Team Member Rewards—A portal where pilots who complete a level of WINGS can receive special recognition and awards.

Maintenance Hangar

- Seminars and Events—AMTs can search for seminars, training courses, and more by topic or location.
- IA Courses and Providers—An up-to-date data base that permits AMTs to search for FAA-approved certification courses and certification groups by location, topic, and training date.
- My AMT—Allows AMTs to enroll and complete accredited courses toward earning a Bronze, Silver, and Gold Certificate of training within the AMT Awards program. AMTs can also monitor their progress through My AMT.

- Other Award Programs—AMTs can search for information about general aviation awards programs.
- Special Projects—A portal that links AMTs to information that will help AMTs identify and manage risks to improve their safety performance.
- Toolbox—A list of flight safety-related Web sites for AMTs. Description and links are listed for each maintenance category and site.

Resources

Resources—Download safety information on a wide range of topics. Find Notices and a library of FAA guidance, regulations, handbooks, ADs/Service Bulletins, etc. Also you will find links to other sites so you can search hundreds of safety topics and find information to help improve your proficiency.